Let’s Talk About Women

Great conversations begin with good questions. Make your next gathering more memorable by sprinkling in some of our favorite questions from the Conversation Guide library. You can try asking them at the dinner table, in the car, even over Zoom.

Conversation Agreements

| Be curious and listen to understand. | Be authentic and welcome that from others. |
| Show respect and suspend judgment. | Be purposeful and to the point. |
| Note any common ground as well as any differences. | Own and guide the conversation. |

These questions cover a lot of ground. No pressure to get through all of them in one sitting. It might take multiple conversations. Choose as many or as few as whatever works for your time and setting.

- What roles have you learned about gender from parents, school, peers, media, faith? Which do you hold true? And which do you break?
- How have you seen society treat boys and men differently from girls and women? What impact has that had on you personally?
- What does the feminist movement mean to you? How has it affected you?
- How have stories about women in history impacted you or someone you know? What role do historical monuments play in sharing our history?
- How does status, or lack of status, affect your sense of personal dignity? How have you noticed it impacting others?
- What is something you would do if you could break the rules or roles of gender for a day?
- What does an ideal society look like to you in the realm of sex/gender relations?
- What is power? What is your hope or aspiration for women, leadership, and power?

Want more guidance for connecting? Check out our Friends and Family Conversation Tips!
livingroomconversations.org/friends-and-family-guide/