

Living Room Conversations is looking for a part-time Racial Equity Partner! Our ideal candidate is a self-motivated person with passion and experience in racial justice advocacy who enjoys public speaking, and is comfortable talking and teaching about race and ethnicity.

This is a remote position for 10 hours/week at $25/hour.

Please send a resume and cover letter to brialle@livingroomconversations.org

Role and Responsibilities

- Work closely with management and Youth Council to build out our Racial Equity work and create programs that align with the mission of Living Room Conversations.
- Nurture relationships with key partners across bridge-building, private, and public sectors that are interested in talking about race.
- Co-facilitate and help design training offerings including our monthly How to Organize & Host a Living Room Conversation on Race as well as custom paid services and presentations. This includes the potential for custom work, public speaking, and presentations.
- Network and create outreach campaigns to bring in paid services.
- Maintain, create and expand relevant resources and conversation guides on our "Talking About Race" Resources page.
- Continue learning and professional development and look for ways to support the organization's internal DEI work.
- Host regular conversations about race in your community and/or online.
- Use your experience to write stories for our newsletter, social media, blogs, and external media outlets This also includes doing media interviews as requests come in.

About the Organization

Living Room Conversations provide an easy structure for engaging in friendly yet meaningful conversation with those with whom we may not agree. These conversations increase understanding, reveal common ground, and sometimes even allow us to discuss possible solutions. To learn more go to <https://livingroomconversations.org>

Our work environment is one that encourages team members to take initiative in developing projects and programs as needs and possibilities are identified. We are especially looking for people who might ultimately transition into leadership roles on our team.

This position is remote with team members based in cities and towns across the country.
